HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO AUGUST 18.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Gen. Dix was arrested yesterday at suit of John Mitchel, who charges him with the illegal imprisonment of Mitchel. It will be remembered he was arrested in this city and imprisoned at Fortress Monroe by Gen Dix, in the summer of 1865. Upon this fact he brings suit for $25,000 damages. Dix gave security in the sum of $20,000 to answer the charge.

The Cuban Junta denies that the steamer Hornet, seized at Philadelphia, was for Cuba. They intimate that the seizure was made to direct attention from another steamer, which got off safely from a Southern port.

It is generally believed that Fisk will defeat Ramsey in the Susquehannah and Albany Railroad Company. The war between the trunk lines for the mastery of connecting roads, promises to be very active. The Central, Erie and Pennsylvania directors, openly declare their intention to secure the control of connection to the Missouri river. Agents are buying freely the bonds they desire to secure. It is reported that the New York Central is sending through freight to Chicago over the Michigan Central instead of the Lake Shore road. An early alliance between the Erie and Lake Shore is probable.

General Sherman said, in conversation, that the Spanish gunboats will not be permitted to leave, as an early recognition of Cuban belligerency is probable.

Generals Slocum, Wright, Ingalls and Devereaux, with a large number of other distinguished officers, leave here on Monday for Gettysburg. Arrangements have been made with the railroads to pass the officers attending the memorial ceremonies.

Judge Barnard issued orders, requiring the Ramsey party to show cause at the special term to be held at Albany the last Wednesday of August, why Judge Peckham's injunction and also his order appointing Pruyn receiver of the Albany & Susquehanna Railroad, should not be vacated, and staying all proceedings till then.

The schooner Mary Jane, bound from St. Domingo to Boston, towed a vessel into this port which she had fell in with. The helm was lashed and she was drifting about. The captain and crew, two men, were in a condition unable to throw overboard the bodies of their comrades, who were in a petrifying condition.

ALBANY, Aug. 18.—The examination in relation to the receivership of the Susquehanna Railroad was continued to-day before referee and surrogate Lawton. One witness was examined when further proceedings adjourned to August 20, on account of the absence of Jay, Gould, Fisk and Rucker.

St. Paul Dispatch.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 18.—Specials say the two Republican committees in that county, appointed last night by the Donnelly and Washburne factions, have coalesced and issued a joint call for a Republican County Convention.

A horrible murder was committed in Morgan county, Illinois, on Monday last. Two neighbors, named respectively Rogers and Sherman, had been to town and got drunk. On returning, Chapman went home, got a shot gun and came back to Rogers, who was still sitting in his wagon, and blew off a part of his head. No cause for the deed is known.

"Judge" Dent Again—Washington News.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—A Republican special sends a letter written by Judge Dent to Secretary Boutwell, charging him with aspiring to the Presidency, and ordering Grant to oppose the Conservative Republicans of the South, who are his real friends. The letter calls Grant Boutwell's master, and says Boutwell is endeavoring to supplant him. It is written in grandiloquent style and intended to be sarcastical against the Secretary.

General Dodge has not been invited to become Secretary of War, as was reported from Iowa. He is going east to attend a meeting of the officers of the Pacific Railroad.

The assembly of revenue supervisors from the East and West to consult with Commissioner Delano, are likely to result in augmented facilities for carrying out the provisions of the revenue laws. Probably arrangements will be made during the conference to secure the hearty co-operation of supervisors against illicit whisky operators.

The Telegrafo (a vessel) is reported to be committing depredations on American commerce in the hand of the English at Tantillo.

A Richmond dispatch to-day says Gen. Canby has decided that twelve months residence in a State is all that is necessary to qualify for Senators and members of the House of Delegates.

Charles Arnold was murdered yesterday by James Hughes, who stabbed him through the heart, in a livery stable, were both men were employed.

Willie Rollins, a boy aged nine years, was run over to-day and instantly killed by an express wagon driven at a reckless rate of speed. The driver was arrested and held for manslaughter.

E. Miller, policeman, went aboard a vessel in the river, at three o'clock Sunday morning, to quiet a supposed disturbance on the vessel, which was immediately taken by a tug and towed into the lake and departed for parts unknown. The vessel had no clearance. The captain of the tug is ignorant about the matter. The whole case is enveloped in mystery. All points have been telegraphed to detain the vessel.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—The Congressional joint committee on retrenchments, with a number of invited guests, left yesterday for the Pacific coast. The party includes Senators Patterson, of New Hampshire, Thurman, of Ohio, Cottell, of New Jersey, Morrill, of Vermont and Schurz, with several Representatives.

The Labor Congress.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—In the afternoon session of the Labor Congress a telegram was read from the New York Typographical Union giving the substance of resolutions adopted by them last night, denouncing Miss Anthony's treatment of the Union and its members as an employer of printers, and declaring her admission to the Convention to be an insult to the entire organization. After a long discussion the resolutions refusing to receive Miss Anthonys credentials was agreed to 63 to 28. Much indignation was felt by Miss Anthony's friends at her expulsion.

In the National Labor Convention, West, of New York, offered a resolution favoring amendments to the Federal and all State constitutions preventing any act, by any legislative body, becoming a law until it is submitted to the people for ratification, and equally approved by the majority voting.

A committee was appointed to investigate the charges preferred against mine laborers in Pennsylvania by the press generally, to report to this convention.

A delegate from the New York Typographical Union read a dispatch directing him to withdraw from the convention if Miss Anthony is admitted. Pending a discussion whether delegates fees shall be returned, the convention took a recess.

Dispatch from Wilmington, N. C.

WILMINGTON, Aug. 17.—The Weekly Post says a personal difficulty has been pending between Major Englehardt, editor of the Journal, and Gen. Abbott, U. S Senator. It grew out of an editorial in the Post of the 8th inst., in which the editors of the Journal were denounced as public liars on account of alleged injustice done to Abbot in reports of his speeches. No collision happened. Correspondence having occurred meantime, on Tuesday evening Abbott addressed a note to Englehardt which stated that he (Abbott) was not editor of the Post, but was the author of the offensive article and he was personally responsible for the same. On Wednesday and Thursday there were unmistakable evidences that Englehardt would attack Abbott on sight, but the vigilance of the authorities prevented it. On Thursday Abbott was arrested and placed under bonds to keep the peace. Englehardt successfully avoided arrest until Saturday morning, when he was surprised at a private house by the sheriff's posse and placed under bond. On Sunday morning Englehardt, with three friends, proceeded to South Carolina and addressed a communication to Abbott, of which the following is an extract: "You must now make a full retraction of the contents of that article and apologize for publishing it or give me the satisfaction to which I am entitled in accordance with the code of honor." On Monday Abbott, through some friends, replied in a communication, of which the following is an extract: "By authority of General Abbott and in his name we retract in full the article in the Post of the 8th, reflecting on Major Englehardt, and express our regret that it was written and published." The amende was accepted by the friends acting for Englehardt in a written communication, in which they stated that in nothing that had appeared in the Journal was any assault on the private character of Mr. Abbott intended, and expressing regret that it had been so construed.

Dissensions among the Mormons.

BRIGHAM'S SUPREMACY CONTESTED.

[From the S. F. Chronicle.]

A dispatch from Salt Lake of yesterday's date indicates that a serious contest for the ascendancy in the Mormon Church has been inaugurated between Brigham Young and David and Alexander Smith, the sons of Joseph Smith, the founder of Mormonism. The dispatch informs us that at a public meeting at Salt Lake City Alexander Smith boldly denounced Young's system as "the vilest iniquity that ever blurred the earth," and that Brigham announces meetings every Sunday night in opposition to the preaching of the Smiths. Private letters recently received in this city from Salt Lake furnish particulars in regard to the pretensions and proceedings of the Smiths which serve to explain the nature of the difficulty mentioned in last night's dispatches. Joseph Smith, just previous to his death, prophesied the birth of a son, who was to be called David, and who was to become the leader of that people and the head of the Church. This son was born some few months after the murder of Joseph. All the old Mormons treasured up this prophesy and looked forward to its fulfillment. Indeed, up to a recent period Brigham Young himself was in the habit of saying that he held the headship of the Church in trust for David Smith and that he would come amongst them, adopt all their habits and customs, including polygamy, and be their guide. He is now about twenty-four years of age, and is in Utah claiming that by divine revelation he, and not Brigham Young, is the rightful authority. The latter, however, is loath to give up his power, and not only has denied the sons of Joseph Smith the use of the Tabernacle in which to preach, but has absolutely forbidden the people from going to listen to them. The Gentiles in that city have a hall which was built for religious services at the time Gen. Conner was in command at that place. This hall, now used by Episcopal ministers, has been placed at the service of David and his brother. The Mormons, in spite of the prohibition and threats of Brigham, flock in crowds to hear them. Brigham is said to be much alarmed and does not know how effectually to end this new difficulty. The traditions of the Church are all in favor of David Smith, and the dissatisfaction is spreading fast and wide. It is even said that it had reached the very family of Brigham himself, and that some of them believe the latter should give way. If the Government will protect these young men it may prove the best means of solving the Mormon problem. They denounce polygamy as not a part of the true Mormon faith, and they preach loyalty to the Government and the abolition of the onerous tithing system. Though they have been but a few weeks in Utah the effect is apparent, and it is reported that they have already a large number of adherents. All loyal citizens must cordially wish them success.

Don't Know Her Sex.

A few nights since the house of a prominent resident of an Atlantic city was entered by a burglar and some valuable jewelry and other property stolen and carried away; but, before leaving the house, it appears he paid a visit to nearly every apartment in it! Traces were found of him above and below stairs—wherever, indeed, it was probable any valuables could be obtained. It so happened that one member of the family belonged to that much abused and very excellent class of society called old maids. She is a free-hearted, generous, intelligent and refined, and the only fear [illegible] old maid has ever known is [illegible] that in the evil hour [illegible] came into the keeping [illegible] her mind a man [illegible] or the [illegible] this peculiar [illegible] life's ayleum not, he at all events [illegible] practical joke. To [illegible] removed from [illegible] had neatly folded and laid [illegible] wearing apparel, and substituted [illegible] room a complete set of gentleman's [illegible] Then, [illegible] off a huge pair [illegible] was made carefully adjusted them to cling to the face of the sleeping lady. Of course, he could not wait to see the denouement; but that pleasure was reserved for the family the next morning. Awakening at an early hour, the good lady proceeded to the dressing-room to enjoy a look at her face. The first glance she took petrified her with indescribable horror. Was she indeed a man? The latent superstition of her nature reviving, she imagined that Satan had been playing her a horrible revenge for her animosity to the [illegible] sex. She screamed to a degree and almost broken-hearted, concluded to dress [illegible] for a barber. But now she noticed for the first time that her clothes, too, were gone, and a gentleman's outfit was substituted in their stead. She was certain now the metamorphosis was complete, and resigning herself to the situation, tried to don the apparel, finding no experience in the adjustment of this unusual attire, and habit being second nature, she found that every time she put the pantaloons over her head she encountered an impediment that defied all her efforts to overcome. In short, the pantaloons wouldn't go over her head. At last, in despair, she sang for assistance, and her maid appeared at the door, she cried out: "Don't come in, Betty, for I'm a man now; but just please step and ask my brother if he usually put his breeches on over his head, or common sense!" It is needless to say the [illegible] astonished the household. It was some time before the lady would admit to her apartment any of either sex, for fear she might [illegible] a mistake; but, finally, one more adventurous than the rest pushed open the door, and soon convinced the sorely-troubled maid that she had not forsaken her estate, but was yet one of the angels of the earth.

A Grand Exploring Expedition.

We were called upon yesterday by a member of one of the most thoroughly informed and equipped expeditions yet got up for the exploration of a portion of the Colorado. The party [illegible] under the guidance of Frank S. Alling, an old Californian, who has had no little experience in the land of the Apaches. The men with him are also Californians, and and several of them are well informed by observation of the land throughout which their route lies, also the nature and something of the resources and advantages of the points to which their steps are now directed. Starting from Treasure yesterday, a short push would be made, and the party will to-day take up the march for Hiko, in Lincoln County. At that place the expedition is to be reinforced, and the party will proceed, with saddle and pack animals, down the W[illegible] Fork of the Muddy, by Pahrump Lake, to Fossil Spring, and St. Thomas, old Mormon settlements, down to Virgin River. Then down to Callville. At Callville the proposition is to establish a ferry on the Colorado, to accommodate the large amount of travel soon to go that way. Although ages [illegible] dem more tinted touches the north bank of the Colorado than many would suppose. Alling and his party are conversant with the country, and know what is wanted, and they say a ferry there will be good property.

From Callville the expedition will follow the river thirty-five miles down, to El Dorado Canyon, where it is proposed to establish a second ferry and the company's headquarters—looking forward, of course, to the growing up of a good town in the course of a few years. Travel touching the north bank of the Colorado at Callville is now obliged to go 120 miles down the river, to Hardyville, to get ferried. After fixing their settlements at El Dorado Canyon and manning the ferries at the two points named, the objective point of the expedition will be the country lying southeast of Big Canyon and east of El Dorado. This is the border of the unexplored region of Arizona, of which so little is known. Every now and then a sample of gold is shown by some starved out prospector or captured Indian, and some wild story told of wonderful stores of the article reported found in that region of the Territory. The members comprising this expedition propose to thoroughly explore and prospect that entire region. We will await with much interest accounts of progress of the expedition, and will have advices from it as often as opportunity can be found to transmit us a letter.—White Pine News.

WHEAT CROP OF 1869.—This product may be said to be the staple of Oregon, and to a great extent the prosperity of our farming community depends upon the profit arising from its production. Last year the yield in this State in proportion to the breadth of land sown was larger than usual, but owing to the excellent crop in the other portions of the wheat growing portions of the United States and elsewhere, the market was dull and prices ruled low during the entire year. Accordingly those who expected to derive considerable gain from their farms were at last compelled to receive what barely covered the expense of producing and marketing. This year, so far, promises but little better in the same regard. The yield in Oregon is not so great, but the number of acres is much greater. At the present rate, 50 cents per bushel, the margin for profit to the producer is very small, and nothing but the necessity of selling will induce many farmers to put their wheat into market at so low a figure. A few days ago prices in California seemed to have an upward tendency, and many entertained a hope that our surplus would be got off at remunerative rates. But from dispatches received in this city since, we learn that the apparent increased demand was only temporary and that the market had again become dull, and but few buyers even found, at the figures given in our regular quotations. It is seriously doubted if the general average of prices this season will be much above that of last. The only solution of this difficulty in the way of our farming population is that a foreign market be found for our surplus wheat, or that the farmers turn their attention to the cultivation of something more certainly profitable.

FROM SALEM.—From yesterday's Unionist we learn that during last year the Salem mills ground 32,600 barrels of flour. At present half the capacity of the mills, if running on one shift time. The new mill in South Salem, is now at work.

Now wheat is coming into the Salem mills at the rate of 1,500 bushels per day. The farmers are generally storing it, with the privilege of selling at their option hereafter, as they hesitate to accept the going market rates.

Mr. Dickinson not only raises four-fifths of all the garden seeds sold in Oregon, but regularly supplies a large dealer in San Francisco, while Mr. B. K. Bliss, an Eastern man of thirty years' standing, sends to him for seeds, and writes him back "the seeds you send me are the best I ever saw." Mr. Bliss now sends him seeds worth ten dollars per ounce to propogate for him. [illegible] has twelve clergymen, fourteen physicians, four [illegible] eleven lawyers, one land agent and fifteen [illegible].

There are in the city thirty-two brick stores, built before the past year, and there are thirteen now being built.

The P. T. Company, whose principal office is at Salem, [illegible] $470,000 now invested in boats, etc., and propose putting $150,000 more in the Locks at Oregon City.

NEW ORDINANCES.—At the last meeting of the City Council an ordinance defining the duties and fixing the pay of the City Surveyor and assistants, was passed, which is calculated to correct some abuses as well as to bring about quite a saving to the city and other parties having surveying done. The ordinance instructs the surveyor to set up monuments on the line of surveys made by him at distances not greater than 600 feet apart, so that in order to locate a lot on the back streets or in the upper or lower portion of the city it will not be necessary to begin at the corner of Front and Washington or Front and Main sts., as heretofore and run a line which has been run a hundred times before. By the terms of the [illegible] the pay of the Assistant Surveyor is fixed at five dollars per day, and of chain bearers and staffmen at three dollars per day. Ten hours of actual employment to constitute a day's work.

An ordinance defining the duties and fixing the [illegible] of the Recorder, in accordance with the last amendments to the City Charter was also passed, and will probably be put on its final passage at the next meeting of the Council. This ordinance makes [illegible] changes in the matter of the fees of this officer. It will be further noticed hereafter.

BOUNTY.—The following, clipped from the Pacific Shipping List, is published for the information of [illegible] Volunteers:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
SECOND AUDITOR'S OFFICE, May 19th, 1869.

Notice: The claims of Capt. Syracuse's Company, 1st [illegible] for balance of bounty is disallowed. They have been paid $200 bounty, but not having served [illegible] terms of their enlistments are not entitled to the [illegible] thereof of $100.

E. B. TULLY, Jacksonville, Ogn. E. B. FIELD, Auditor.

The [illegible] discharges of persons serving in the Oregon [illegible] of 1867, have been returned to B. F. Dowell, and are now [illegible] to the orders of the owners: James [illegible], John W. Reed, Ira F. Chandler, Simon Smead, [illegible] Moe, Charles Wolfer, Kirby T. Beaguet, [illegible] Wm. Woolley, [illegible] A. Abbott, Hawkins G. [illegible] Julius K. Pope, [illegible] Callan, Jacob Peck, [illegible] W. Burns.

OUR SALEM.—An editorial in the Unionist sums up the [illegible] in Salem, as follows: There are [illegible], one banking house, fifteen dry goods [illegible], one [illegible] woolen store, six [illegible] three book stores, three drug stores, three [illegible] and tin ware, two jewelers, two hardware stores and [illegible], four millinery [illegible], five boot and shoe [illegible], one broker's office, three [illegible], one [illegible] bakery, two gun shops, eight [illegible], three restaurants, five meat markets, eight [illegible], four wagon and carriage shops, one [illegible], four soap and door factories, three saw mills, four livery [illegible], three paint [illegible], one rag [illegible], two chair factories, one cigar maker, one marble yard, three printing [illegible], one book bindery, one bathing establishment, [illegible] shops and one boot black.

We have a letter from the Ascension Orchard at [illegible], we learn that Hon. W. H. Seward and party were to arrive at that place on the 25th of this [illegible]. They in all probability will reach Portland about the first of [illegible] and our citizens should make preparation at an early day to give the distinguished gentleman a fitting reception. Mr. Seward has shown himself a friend to the interests of this coast, and [illegible] for his eminent services in [illegible]. But we doubt not that our city authorities, [illegible], will be ready to yield [illegible]. This is [illegible] Collier who will be here about the same time, and due honor. We should show these [illegible] as they may have or shall hereafter [illegible] our enterprise in developing the resources of our State are duly appreciated.

MARKETS.—We were struck with the unusually large [illegible] of the late fruits and vegetables to be found in the markets in the city since the arrival [illegible]. Sweet potatoes, melons, peaches, etc., are to be found in the greatest abundance of excellent [illegible], and at prices which are regarded by Oregonians as quite moderate. Our annual importations of [illegible] from California make up quite an item in the [illegible] of the people. Many of these could, [illegible] be raised on our own soil and thereby quite a [illegible] be effected. Let farmers turn their attention more to raising fruits and vegetables and compel the [illegible] to bring less of them from California.

CARELESSNESS.—In passing through our streets at late hours of night, it is sometimes difficult to avoid stumbling over some of the many piles of lumber, boxes and other [illegible] on the sidewalks. During the few nights last past the city lamps have not been lit, and hence the [illegible] quite dark. Why this is so we know not, but will call the attention of the lamplighter to Mc[illegible] and the smoky state of the atmosphere to him that 'pale Luna's beams' don't illuminate sufficiently to enable pedestrians to perambulate our streets with perfect security.

IMPROVEMENTS.—The most valuable improvements ever made [illegible] one season in our city on the same area, have been made this summer on First street, between [illegible] Morrison. These improvements consist of the [illegible] brick of Messrs. Gilman & Wiberg, 75x75 feet; that of Messrs. Porter and Weigand, 50x100, and the Odd Fellows' Hall, 50x100 feet. They give that part of the city a very imposing and improved appearance, the first [illegible] and the others rapidly approaching completion.

THE WEATHER.—The recent showers have purified the air of the dense [illegible] and rendered it pleasant, healthful and refreshing. Should the clerk of the weather, however, stop at what he has done, we may expect a recurrence of the same smoky time before long as we are informed that the woods both North and South of us are yet on fire.

SALE OF FURNITURE.—A. B. Richardson, Esq., will sell a lot of desirable household furniture at the place known as the "White House," this morning at 10 o'clock. The property is sold at sheriff's sale, and those wishing to [illegible] would do well to attend, as there is a probability that some good bargains can be had.

THE MARKET.—Notwithstanding the complaint of the dullness of times and the scarcity of money, there are considerable [illegible] tions in real estate occurring daily in this city. During the past five days the county records show sales of lots in the suburbs of more than $11,000 in value.

OLD FRIEND BACK.—Our old friend Wm. Masters, Esq., has bought out Mr. Stansbury's interest in the late firm of [illegible] & Protzman, and will soon bring his family back to reside permanently in this city. He evidently regards Portland as the place for business.

CITY HOUSE.—Messrs. Barlow & Shepard having taken possession of this favorite hotel at Oregon City, offer excellent accommodations to the traveling public on reasonable terms. They fully understand the business of keeping a hotel.

CARGO.—The Moses Taylor, on her late trip, brought 825 tons of freight for Portland and about 150 tons for Victoria. Since her arrival our streets and business houses have presented a somewhat livelier appearance.

AT FIRST COST.—Mr. Quimette, in order to close out his stock of dry goods, etc., before the first of October, is now offering them at first cost, and all who wish to purchase anything in his line should call on him.

SECOND GAME.—The Pioneer Base Ball Club, of this city, and the Clackamas Club, of Oregon City, will play the second of a match game between them at the latter place, on to-morrow at nine A. M.

BIVALVES.—Allsky & Hegele have just received a fine lot of Shoalwater Bay Oysters, which they are serving up to their patrons in the best style. Everybody should go and partake of these luscious bivalves.

RAILROAD.—The East Side Railroad Co. have begun the building of bridges and trestle work at a point just below [illegible], some thirty men being employed at that point upon these works.

WILL CONVENE.—An adjourned term of the Circuit Court for Multnomah county will be held to-day, his Honor, Judge Upton, presiding.

DISCHARGED.—Ned Petty, arraigned before Justice Bull on yesterday, upon an accusation of assaulting Marshal Saunders, was discharged.

WILL SAIL.—The Moses Taylor will sail for San Francisco via Victoria to-morrow at 6 o'clock P. M.

AT THE OLD.—Burchardt, of the "Old Stand," is in receipt of fresh oysters, the first of the season.

Railways in India

The progress of railway construction in India is simply wonderful. It was not until 1359 that it was attempted to inaugurate a railway system in that great English colony of 200,000,000 inhabitants. In that year a few private individuals among them the names of Stevenson, Chapman and Andrew—formed themselves into an association for the purpose of carrying out certain railroad projects. But the lines had scarly been commenced when Lord Dalhousie arrived in India. He was not a man to do things by halves. He was not a man to do things without consideration. But he was a man whose thoughts took a wide range, and whose judgment was clear, and whose actions were prompt. The subject of railways was in his mind; for he had just left the Board of Trade in England, where he had learned not only the importance of railway communication, but the necessity for care and circumspection in regulating the railway affairs of a country. Lord Dalhousie soon saw that the so-called experiments ought not to stop the way for a more extended system. He accordingly sent home a comprehensive scheme for the whole of India, and recommended that it should be parcelled out and allotted to different companies. His proposition met with a cordial and ready response from the Court of Directors of the East India Company, whose views were shared by the Board of Control; and the great system of communication which is now being extended over the length and breadth of that land was forthwith undertaken.

Some idea may be formed of the proportions which this system has attained, when we say that £82,376,000, or $411,880,000 have been invested in the various undertakings, of which only $4,000,000 was subscribed in India. For this sum has been constructed 5,900 miles of railway, and which have been divided into twelve separate undertakings. These vary in extent from 1,500 to 30 miles, and in the amount of their capital from £31,000,000 to £600,000. They will, it is estimated, cost about $94,000,000. With the exception of the Calcutta and Southeastern, which was lately transferred to the Government, and the line from Lahore to Peshawur, which is 273 miles in length, they are in the hands of companies as follows: The East Indian, 1,602 miles, from Calcutta to Delhi, with a branch to Jubbulpore, the Great Indian Peninsula, 1,267 miles from Bombay to Jubbulpore, with a branch from the northeast line to Napore; the Madras, 861 miles, from Madras, in a northwest direction to Raichore, in a southwest direction to Beypore, on the opposite coast, with a branch to Bangalore; the Bombay, Baroda, and Central India, 812 miles, from Bombay to Baroda and Ahmedabad, the Scindo, 109 miles, from Kurachee to Kotree, the Punjaub, 246 miles, from Moultan to Umritsir; the Delhi, 220 miles, from Umritsir to Delhi; the Kasterd Bengal, 159 miles, from Calcutta to Joalundo; the Great Southern, 168 miles, from Negapatam to Trichinopoly and Carour, on the Madras line; the Oude and Rohilcund, 672 miles, Cawnpore to Lucknow, and thence to Benares and Bareilly, with branches; the Calcutta and Southeastern, 29 miles, from Calcutta to Port Canning.

These companies represent 53,500 share holders and bondholders. They have £82,500,000 of capital, and have expended £80,000,000. They have imported from England materials to the amount of 3,000,000 tons at the value of £24,250,000. They possess 1,000 locomotives and about 4,000 vehicles for passengers, and 20,800 for goods. They last year carried upward of 15,000,000 passengers, from whom they received £1,901,000, and 2,870,000 tons weight of goods, for which they received £3,136,000. In the same year their expenses amounted to £2,730,000. They have received £25,750,000 for guaranteed interest, and have paid back £12,250,000 of this sum. They were incorporated by acts of Parliament; they are regulated by an act of the Indian legislature, and their relations with the government are defined by contracts. The practical effect of these agreements is to produce co-operation between the government and the companies. Each company becomes as it were, a department of government.

There are works of great magnitude on these lines in the way of tunnels, bridges, &c. Among the most formidable are those which occur on the great India Peninsular railway, in its ascents up the mountains which run parallel with the coast of Bombay. Two passes or gates are crossed at an elevation of about 2,000 feet above the level of the sea; the length of the incline up the Thulghat is nine mile, and its height from the commencement is 972 feet. That up the Bhoreghat is fifteen miles, and its height 1,830 feet. The steepest gradient on either is one in thirty-seven. Tunnels, embankments, cuttings and viaducts follow each other with most marvellous rapidity. As another example of the difficulty of bridge construction in India, the viaduct which takes the Delhi railway over the the Sutlej, may be cited. The river, which runs through a valley five miles wide, has for the last seventy or eighty years flown along the northern side; but it is now changing its course to the southern side. This alteration has taken place while the bridge was in course of construction, so that, originally designed for a length of 4,000 feet, it has now to be extended 2,200 feet to cross the present stream.

These railways are rapidly developing the country, and enabling it to produce larger amounts of cotton, indigo, opium and spices than ever before. When the Suez canal is opened, it is expected the railway system of India will receive a greatly increased impetus.

GENERAL SICKLES AND THE "WORLD."—While the nomination of General Sickles was pending, the New York World published page after page of what it called exposure of his crimes. It accused him of being, in former days, a rake, a dishonest politician, and even a thief. Singular to say, all the crimes alleged against General Sickles were committed while he was a Democrat. At that time they were not regarded as spots upon his escutcheon. He was a good enough Democrat, whatever he did. The party sent him to Congress, and, along with Buchanan, to the British Court. Since he has been a Republican, nothing has been found to charge him with, except that he shed his blood in bitter and desperate battles against the enemies of the Republic. His Democratic sins while a Democratic diplomatist, are brought up to prove his unfitness for a Republican mission! Had he remained a Democrat, all would have been lovely; and he was welcome to stay with the Democrats as long as he pleased. We must accept this curious raid against him as a decided compliment to the Republican party.—Sacramento Union.

The Hon. Jno. E. Sandford, Insurance Commissioner of Massachusetts, in his Report for 1868, speaking of Dividends in Life Insurance Companies, says: "The sooner such guarantee cease to be made, and such expectations created, the sooner Life Insurance will come to rest on its true motive, and men insure their lives for security, and not for dividends. The best and most popular companies will then be those that promise only equity, and render all that they promise, and furnish the best security, with the most upright and judicious management."
"By the Stock plan, the full cash effect of the Premium is immediately secured to the Insured, the Company taking ALL the risk. By the Mutual plan, the full value in Insurance of the Premium paid, is not secured to the Policy-holder, who takes a portion of the risk himself."

The Daily Oregonian

FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 20, 1869.

Land and Land Owners.

The rapid diminution of the area of our public domain and the equally rapid increase of the value of desirable lands in all parts of the country should be a warning to persons of small means to make haste to secure landed property while it is yet in their power to do it. The possession of land is the surest guarantee of independence. Not that every man can be a farmer, for we cannot agree with the attorney in one of the Waverly novels, that farming comes by nature and that a man who can do nothing else may follow this occupation, but there are undoubtedly many persons depending for a livelihood on the uncertainty of daily or weekly wages, who might greatly improve their condition by becoming possessors and tillers of land. If we look a little to the future we shall clearly see that in a few years the golden opportunity which the masses of the people have long had for obtaining lands, will be wholly gone. The population of the country is increasing at a rate which is unprecedented in our history. Thirty years hence it will be double what it is now. There is no longer any unexplored region with broad plains and fertile valleys awaiting settlement. It is true that good lands may yet be had for the taking in many places, but in a very short time they will be occupied. A population, augmented continually by immigrants from Europe, will soon suffice beyond both oceans, is crowding rapidly even to the remotest places; and when there are no more lands to be taken prices will go up so that it will be no easy matter to buy. Lands can yet be obtained in desirable localities at low rates; but there is certain to be a great change in this respect, even within the next ten years. We shall witness it in Oregon, and especially in Wallamet valley. Those who have any disposition to attach themselves to the soil should improve present opportunities, since it will henceforward become more difficult every year to secure such an advantage.

Regenerated Virginia.

It was in Virginia where the political ideas which gave birth to the late rebellion were started. It was Virginia that led in the movement which overthrew the national policy of Washington and Hamilton and set up in its stead the State-sovereignty creed, out of which grew secession and civil war. And it is Virginia which has been slowest to unlearn the great errors which have dragged her down and her sister Southern States with her. But she seems at last to have unlearned them thoroughly. She appears now to recognize the fact that the result of the rebellion has transformed Old into New Dominion, with new society formation, new political ideas and new methods of progress. The Richmond Enquirer, the old Democratic organ of the State, makes a candid confession of the altered condition of affairs, in a way which we commend to the consideration of the Democrats of Oregon, many of whom appear to think that the old political regime is to be established.

We earnestly desire to be spared from politics—altogether from Federal, and as much as possible from State. The object of all politics is to strengthen or build up States, and our politics is, therefore, non-political. What we need is work, well directed work. Agriculture, manufactures, commerce is politics enough for us. These will ultimately bring us power, while words—words—words will merely obstruct our aims. We have lost eighty odd years talking politics, and while we talked, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois, grew. We practiced law and ran for the Legislature; they passed money. The pursuit of money is the road to power. It is the banker, the great merchant, who rules; not the attorney. It is the merchant princes of New York who live in palaces—real palaces like those on the Canalazzo at Venice, or along the Arno at Florence—and who have their splendid equipages, and their European tours, and their Burgundy and their Murillos. How much power has Hon. Statesright Bollingbroke, ex-member of Congress for Virginia, candidate for Governor, member of the Democratic National Committee? How much did he have in 1860 compared to Commodore Vanderbilt, or A. T. Stewart, or George Peabody? The Northern people saw long ago what we were just beginning to see before the war came upon us—that it was not in the professions, but in trade, that power was to be secured. Their best intellects, their most accomplished young men went into banking houses, into railroading, into the counting room.

Intelligent Action.

The temperance people in New York are pursuing a course which shows their ability to comprehend the true method of temperance reform. Instead of urging the nomination of candidates and the adoption of separate and aggressive political action to secure prohibition, which would be followed by certain defeat, the State Temperance Committee advises the friends of temperance reform to canvass their several localities and educate the people up to the ground on which the committee places itself, and to attend the party caucuses so as to exercise as great a control as they are able in selecting the candidates for the several offices. The desirableness of nominating honest men who will keep clear of "rings" and reject bribes, and will look at the temperance question in its moral aspects, is urged upon the attention of the voters. The demand of the committee on the next Legislature will be confined to requesting the enactment of a law which shall put it within the power of any city or town in the State by a legal majority to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors. This is precisely the principle of the "permissive" prohibitory bill which the temperance agitators in England have been so long urging Parliament to pass. Experience warrants the belief that this is just as far as temperance legislation can be successful in this country at the present time.

Sprague River Valley.

A correspondent of the Jacksonville Sentinel writes:

Sprague river valley has a length of perhaps forty miles, and lies in an east and westerly direction. The western portion is in the Klamath reservation, which is the best portion for farming purposes. The valley has a width of from one to five miles, is generally good soil, with fair timber on the southerly side, and on the north but little at a convenient distance. Small creeks and good springs of water are frequent, and grass is plentiful, both bunch and marsh. On the hills and the dry land in the valley, the sage brush is more or less found. There is considerable marsh land in this valley, with fine hay grass growing on it. Wild flax is seen all over the valleys and is of good growth. The growth of everything indicates that the soil is good and productive. The river and creeks have but a moderate current, and abound with fish. As a general thing there is no timber upon them except willow, and that rather sparse.

The whole of this valley is quite level near the river and creeks, except at one place about the middle, where the eastern line of the reservation is said to cross, there is for a distance of about two miles on the river what is called a canyon, the hills coming down to the river, though forming no obstacle to travel. The O. C. M. road, as surveyed, runs through this valley its entire length, yet no work had been done on this part by the company when we were there.

(This in another wrongful appropriation of the public lands. The builders of these imaginary roads which lead nowhere and which nobody ever travels have a remarkable way of surveying their routes through valleys "their entire length." We hope the last grant of this kind has been made in Oregon. Ed. Oregonian.)

In General.

The iron manufacturers of the country held a meeting at Pittsburg, recently, when the subject of suspending operations for a season, until prices should improve, was discussed at some length. There were representatives present from Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago and other western cities. It was thought best to continue operations, for a time at least, in hopes that more favorable prices would be obtained.

As might be expected, the opposition press, which has so long been denouncing the President for helping his relatives to official positions, now turns upon him with fresh denunciations because he will not help his brother-in-law, "Judge" Dent, to be Governor of Mississippi. The San Francisco Herald complains that, "in this Mississippi matter, where the ties of kindred might have moved his more conservative sympathies in that direction, the earnest persistency of Boutwell, and of Boutwell's political friends, have proven too strong." Crooked are the ways of Democratic politicians.

Under the head of "A plea for temperance," the New York Tribune gives the temperance folks, who talk of setting up for themselves, politically, some excellent advice, counselling them not to do it, but to learn wisdom of the liquor sellers who "generally manage to have such laws as suit them, or else executive and judicial officers who insure them impunity in violating the laws that stand in their way; yet they never nominate independent candidates. They know better than to do any such thing. They win by directing and floating on the current, where they would certainly lose if they attempted to breast it and roll it back." This is useful information for temperance reformers who are thinking of forming a third party.

The renegade John Mitchel, who was received into this country when an outlaw from the land of his birth, and afforded a protection which he did not deserve, and who requited the favors shown him by our Government by joining the Southern rebels and laboring with them for four years with conspicuous malignity to destroy the country which had thus protected him, has had the impudence to cause the arrest of General Dix, for imprisoning him about the time the war closed, when he was raging against the Government like Ate, "hot from hell." The impudence of these unchanged rebels, who are living merely by the mercy of an outraged people, is insufferable. Of course the action of this ingrate, Mitchel, will be loudly applauded by the Copperhead press.

Business in San Francisco is in difficult straits. The Commercial Herald, a paper which certainly is not likely to over state the case or exaggerate actual embarrassments, has these remarks: "We are compelled to chronicle a pinched money market. Coin is scarce and hard to be obtained, even on good security. Immense supplies of grain are coming from farming districts, and accumulating at the various depots inland; but the means for marketing are not here. The stimulus of increased prices in England, while there is little advance upon freight charges, has had slight effect on rates in California, simply because we are without the funds requisite to take advantage of the opportunity. Large amounts of coin have been locked up in real estate, in quartz mills, in new mines, in loans on mortgages, in constructing railroads, and in a variety of other ways. Foreign capital, which was here in large supply, some time since, finding itself underbid, quietly returned whence it came, and the domestic supply is insufficient for our requirements."

The German Press and Tammany Demagogues.

The recent movement of the Tammany politicians, censuring the administration for not protecting American filibusters in Cuba and Ireland, is ridiculed by the New York Staats Zitung, one of the ablest of the German Democratic journals. The Zeitung professes a willingness to encounter the sneers of pot-house politicians rather than to rely making political capital by senseless appeals to passions. It says:

Those who do not seek to oppose the Administration merely for the sake of opposition, will not find many arguments in the proceedings of the late Convention. As regards the Irish question, in the whole history of Great Britain there never was a time when the English Government was more liberal to Ireland than now, or more inclined to repair the wrongs inflicted upon that country. Fenianism has relieved us of the necessity of its further consideration. Demagogues of both parties may endeavor to win Irish votes by the use of the same old cudgelled phrases, yet in such attempts the honorable and independent press will take no part, but will rather recommend all Irishmen to seek the welfare of their country in the project of liberal reform in England than waste their energies, time and wealth for visionary and vain ends. We are convinced that the Administration has done, and still is doing its best to obtain amnesty for all the victims of the Fenian troubles, and that no Democratic administration, under the circumstances, could have done more. In Cuban matters the same is true, and it is but fair to give the Government time to redress any supposed injury to the national honor by personal indignities offered to American citizens. The apparent efforts of Tammany to instigate a war in view of the flood of corruption that has set upon us from the one war we have had, is unpleasant to contemplate. Much as the national honor should be respected, it should not be made an idle phrase.

THE "SUN" BEHIND TIME.—The New York Sun shines for all, and especially strives to enlighten the President. It censures his absence from Washington, and says: "George Washington, whenever he absented himself from the White House, never failed to install Mr. Adams as acting President during his temporary absence, even for ever so short a time."

When Washington was President, if he went down to Mount Vernon, he was liable to get stuck in the mud and be kept there for a week. If he went to New York, it was a heavy five days' work to communicate with the capital, by mail or special messenger. The precaution of having an acting President was necessary. To day President Grant, at Long Branch, can hear from the State Department at Washington quite as soon as he could at the White House. It his presence is required a few hours' ride will bring him to his post. Railroads and telegraphs have made omnipresence almost a human attribute.

BISHOP SIMPSON.—Bishop Simpson is thus sketched by T. D. Cuyler, in the New York Independent:

"While Mr. Punshon is the most celebrated, and perhaps the most polished of living Methodist preachers, Simpson has the superior power over the emotions. With an average Methodist audience, the Bishop would call out ten "Amens" to Punshon's one. But with the pen Punshon is his master. Simpson looks like an ordinary farmer, as you meet him in the streets, yet he grows handsome when his face kindles with inspiration; in figure he is gaunt and his limbs "lie about loose," like Dr. Guthrie's. Lincoln's and old Harry Clay's. In the great work of saving the nation in her hour of agony, Simpson had a place as signally clear as Sherman's, or Stanton's or Chase's or Sumner's or Gen. Stuart's. He led the Methodist corps, but then they had a man in almost every regiment.

The New York Tribune, commenting, says:

The Mississippi steamboat outrage will be described, we presume, as "only a riot." A gang of ruffians ranged through the boat, murdering all the negroes they could find, cutting their throats, and throwing them into the river. The victims had given no provocation whatever, except by being "damned niggers," which we suppose they could not very well help. If the deck hands on the steamer Dubuque had been white men, there is not the least probability that any riot would have taken place or anybody have been killed.

THE WEST.

The Umpqua and other streams are lower than ever before known and still falling.

A Sacramento paper says: The weight of information with regard to this year's crop of wheat in this State, shows it to be below the average yield per acre.

The Boise Statesman of the 10th gives an account of a stampede to the headwaters of the middle fork of Salmon river, where a basin as large and as rich as that of Boise is said to exist. It is situate 1,150 miles north east from Hog'em.

Over in the Sound they beat George Francis Train catching salmon. The Message tells that Col. Frost, of Mukilteo, and his men, in two casts of a small sized seine, caught 1,600 salmon. The Snohomish waters are alive with salmon.

Some of the Idaho farmers are consoling themselves with the reflection that the grasshoppers did them a favor in eating up half their crops, as they still have more than can be sold, and are relieved from the trouble of taking care of the balance.

Says the San Francisco Alta: The disaffection in the Democratic ranks in this city has become so great that preparations are being made for the last solemn act usual in such emergencies reading the recusants out of the party, in the hope that by this severity disintergration can be stayed.

Port Townsend, W. T., is improving—more steamers running, more houses being built than last year. Half a dozen steamers are at the wharf some days. No White Pine excitement, but healthful growth. G. A. Meigs has at Port Madison, ready for planking, a ship of 1,400 tons, a two decker, all built with timber grown there.

Captain William T. Welcker, who has been appointed Professor of Mathematics in the University of California, is a native of Tennessee, and was appointed from that State a cadet to the Military Academy at West Point. He graduated in 1850, and was assigned to the Ordnance Department. He was stationed for many years at Fort Vancouver, Washington Territory.

It appears that the Feejeeans have been eating another American missionary. The Alta says our Government has a mortgage on the kingdom, to secure the payment of a sum due on account of other Americans killed and eaten, and if King Thakombau does not at once pay for these last missionaries at the highest market price, the mortgage should be foreclosed, and the Feejee Islands annexed to the United States.

Some gentlemen of Marysville, Cal., organized a company to manufacture woolen goods, with a capital of $60,000. Some Chinamen were solicited to take a portion of the stock, and they did take $20,000 of it. The cost of the requisite machinery purchased at the East, absorbed all the capital paid in and the Chinese took $20,000 more of the stock—making them two third owners of the factory. The establishment is said to be successful and is worked by Chinese hands.

The Inland Empire, published at White Pine, Nevada, says: "We have opened trade with Chicago, and find that we can buy paper in that city for less in greenbacks than we have paid gold for in San Francisco. And, notwithstanding the fact that the Central Pacific Railroad forced us to pay gold freights on our first shipment all the way through from Chicago—five cents per pound from Chicago to Promontory Point—it came through at less cost than we can receive the same to-day from San Francisco.

An Owyhee paper says: Clement Hanlon, while blasting in a well being dug on the ranch of E. W. Ingsheep, in Jordan Valley, on Wednesday morning last, set off a blast and waited a sufficient length of time, as he supposed, for it to explode, and as no report was heard concluded it a failure and descended to see about it. Arriving at the bottom he found the fuse still burning, and and as there was no way for him to escape he attempted to stamp out the fuse and prevent its igniting the powder, but in this he was unsuccessful; the blast went off, tearing his right foot nearly off and lacerating him badly under the right arm.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

It is reported that some of the Lynn (Mass.) shoe "bosses" are considering a proposition to run their factory by Chinese labor.

The Revolution wants women on the police; but an exchange fears this would augment the "won't go home till morning" fellows to an alarming extent.

The Nashville Press and Times, Senter's organ, admits that the registry law has been trampled under foot, and that there is no further occasion to enfranchise the rebels.

John G. Nicolay, private Secretary to President Lincoln, and recently United States Consul at Paris, has a farm of 850 acres in Osage county, Kansas, on which his father resides. He is now visiting it.

To show what a united Republican party can do in the South, the Republicans of Alabama have carried two to one of the Congressional delegation, though their vote was little more than that cast for Grant. There is an example for the Republicans of all the Southern as well as other States.

Cleveland, Ohio, and Quincy, Illinois, are the latest candidates for the National Capital. Akron, Ohio, wishes to have the naval school removed thither, having a high opinion of the benefits to be derived by the mid thus to learning navigation on the canal where they will not be liable to sea sickness.

The Union Pacific Railroad Company are now offering for sale nearly a million acres of their land in Nebraska, at prices ranging from $2.50 to $10 per acre. Of these lands 615,000 acres are north of the Platte River: 140 000 south of that river, and 245,000 not on the line of the railroad in Polk and other counties.

The amount of business transacted in the Post Office in New York may be judged by the fact that two windows are open for the sale of stamps in sums less than one dollar. The receipts of each of these windows average $1,000 per day. The daily consumption of stamps at the office must be in all about $50,000.

New York papers devote attention to peach statistics. Already one hundred cars are employed in transporting this fruit from Delaware and Maryland to New York. Great preparations are making by the railroads for the heavy work of bringing fruit to market. Delaware, it is believed, will yield fully two million baskets, of which two thirds will go to New York.

A New York paper says: "Among the many whims of America, few are more mistaken or perverse than that which forbids the eating of oysters in the months with an 'r.' For, the deep sea oyster is in his prime in scorching July, and brings from the pale, cool depths of his abode, a more delightful flavor and a firmer texture than the product at any wintry month affords.

General Jordan, ci devant rebel, now a Cuban leader, owes the United States $22,000 on accounts unsettled before the rebellion. Perhaps this traitorous defaulter anticipates a cancellation of this debt and redemption of his bonors by wrenching Cuba from Spain, and presenting it to the United States. Until he does so, we shall continue to regard him as hard a Jordan in the matters of loyalty and money as "Jordan is a hard road to travel."

The New York Leader in an article, evidently from the pen of Mayor Hall, denounces the "unblushing effrontery" of the World in advising the Democracy to forego all opposition to negro suffrage. It says that the course of the World last fall convinces Democrats everywhere that the position it occupied toward the Democratic party was the same as that of a lawyer to a client whose relationship is controlled almost wholly by a retainer. It has no influence or power in the Democratic party, and those who listen to its councils will soon find themselves where the World is at heart, in the Radical party."

While the Chicago commercial party were at the mines on Treasure Hill, Nev., their presence excited considerable curiosity, and one of the miners asked a comrade "Which is the Chicagoans, anyhow?" when the individual addressed promptly responded, "Why, d—n it, don't you know them? it's those chaps yonder that have to grease their legs to get their pants on."

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—The Republican Legislative Convention last night nominated the following persons for Assemblymen: W. D. De Long, Henry Webb, W. H. Byington, Charles Kleiber, W. H. Culver, Thomas O'Brien and W. J. James.

The Republican municipal convention last night endorsed the nomination of Alfred Rix for Police Judge by the Tax Payer's Convention. The nomination for District Attorney by that body, of W. H. Rhoades was laid over till the next meeting. The Convention after much discussion, decided by a vote of 8 to 24, to nominate its own supervisors. A lengthy discussion was had whether the Convention had any power to act on the nomination of Judges for the Fourth and Twelfth Judicial Districts, it being stated that the Legislative Convention claimed the right to nominate those officers. Pending the discussion a motion to adjourn till Friday evening at 8 o'clock was carried.

The Concordia Society organized last night, electing P. Ladd, President. The Society proposes to exert political influence, and will require pledges from candidates to office.

Thomas Frazar met with an accident on Tuesday last which will probably prove fatal. He was on the second platform of a pile driver, when the heavy iron hook which secures the hammer was accidentally detached and flying up crushed in his forehead.

Captain Jame and H. Heintz, while outside the heads yesterday afternoon, were nearly drowned by their plunger stopping a heavy sea and capsizing her. They were rescued by Capt. Matta with a small qant.

The steamer China from Japan and China arrived to-day, bringing 830 Chinese, of whom 130 were females. They were landed and sent to their destination by the Chinese Protection Society, without any disturbance. A small quantity of opium was confiscated by the Custom House officials.

D. Wheeler was arrested by the United States Marshal last night for entering John E. Bluff, of Company I, of the 1st Cavalry, to desert, and purchasing his equipments. He gave bail in the sum of $1,500.

A boy aged five years, giving his name as Geo. Bagley, was found roaming the streets to-day. He was taken to the police station where he awaits claiming.

Two boys fought yesterday on Broadway street. One of them put out the eye of his antagonist.

Vincent Collier, of New York, of the Special Commission appointed by President Grant for the protection of the Indians, arrived here last night.

NEVADA.

Virginia City Dispatch.

VIRGINIA CITY, Aug. 19.—A requisition has been made by the Executive of this State upon the Governor of Arizona for the return of Edward Cage and Joe Lindsay, escaped criminals from from Humboldt county.

Edward Saunders, an employee in Succor Mill, Gold Hill, had his hand and arm dreadfully torn and lacerated by getting caught in the machinery to day.

Business is extremely dull and most prophesy a duller future. There is as much activity among mills and miners as usual, but it does not extend to outside trade. Bullion shipment, $18,820 45.

It is no longer a secret of the chemists' labratory that clear golden syrups can be made from starch and sulphuric acid; that delicious wines and brandies can be made from beet root, that a barrel of peanuts can be transformed into excellent coffee, that lard can absorb an immense quantity of water on certain conditions, that in fact there seems no limit to the adulterations that an intelligent and dishonest chemist can practice upon his fellow man.
